  The rationale of each shareholding is examined annually by the Board of Directors from the viewpoint of the Company’s medium- to long-term business strategies. The Company sells the shares for which there is insufficient rationale of shareholding. The Company confirms the appropriateness of continuing to hold shares on the basis of the policies below.

  - The Company sells other shares based on the appropriate timing and method.
  - The Company continues to hold shares when it is difficult to carry out the sale of the shares according to the Company’s plans because of reasons such as poor liquidity.
With regard to the exercise of voting rights of shareholdings, the Company appropriately exercises them judging from the viewpoint of increasing shareholder value of the issuing company, on the condition that such exercise of the voting rights contributes to increasing the Company’s enterprise value. In order to contribute to evolving the sustainability of both society and Astellas, we have positioned “Deepen our engagement in sustainability” as one of the strategic goals of Corporate Strategic Plan 2021, and we are working to further advance sustainability activities and enhance information disclosure. In FY2021, we revised the materiality matrix to use it to guide our sustainability efforts by selecting 19 key issues from the perspective of importance for both society and Astellas and prioritized nine of them as the most important issues (materiality). To address this materiality, as well as environment-related key issues that are highly demanded by society, we formulated the Sustainability Direction that sets out mid-term priorities for Astellas, specific initiatives, and our commitments by FY2025. Going forward, we will disclose our progress on fulfilling these commitments.

In regards to “Access to Health,” one of the nine most important issues in our materiality matrix, we have identified “lack of available treatments,” and “barriers making it difficult to access the healthcare needed due to poverty, insufficient healthcare information, etc.” and are promoting activities toward finding solutions. Specifically, we have continued working to create innovative healthcare solutions for patients where effective treatment options do not exist or patients struggling with illnesses where existing treatment options did not provide satisfactory outcome and to widely deliver the created “VALUE” to patients who need it. In addition to providing Astellas products through our regular business, we have built comprehensive access mechanism to enhance access to our products for patients who are unable to receive appropriate healthcare due to socioeconomic reasons, while still taking into consideration factors such as specific circumstances and regulations in each country. For example, the Early Access Program*1 allowed XOSPATA and PADCEV to reach more than 550 patients in 40 countries by the first half of FY2022. In addition, we are contributing to society through activities including, but not limited to, training healthcare professionals and improvement of health literacy. Another example is our decision to donate to two organizations in FY2022 in fields covering ailments that are linked to the sustainability of both society and Astellas with the aim of strengthening healthcare systems and improving health literacy.

*1 Early Access Program: A program that provides treatment in the period before manufacturing and marketing approval until market introduction for patients suffering from serious, life-threatening diseases who have exhausted all available therapeutic options and are still unable to participate in clinical trials.

Concerning initiatives for the environment that highly demanded by society, we position climate change, in particular, as one of very important issues and have continuously implemented proactive measures to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. In December 2020, we announced our endorsement of the recommendations of the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD). We have been considering updating the information we posted in FY2021 in line with TCFD recommendations in FY2022. Astellas will disclose the updated information including the quantitative scenario analysis in FY2023 based on the assumption that transition risks would materialize under a 1.5°C scenario for climate change and physical risks would materialize under a 4°C scenario. In addition, the 2°C target for which Science Based Targets (SBT) certification was obtained in 2018 was achieved ahead of schedule in FY2021 and SBT certification was again obtained for the newly set targets (1.5°C target and well-below 2°C target) in December 2022. In February 2023, we announced our commitment to reducing greenhouse gas emissions in Scope 1, 2, and 3*2 by 90% and neutralizing the remaining 10% of emissions by 2050, based on the 2015 level.

*2 Scope: Range of calculation of greenhouse gas emissions, Scope 1: Direct emissions of greenhouse gas from fuels used in-house, Scope 2: Indirect emissions of greenhouse gas from consumption of purchased electricity, Scope 3: Emissions of greenhouse gas in the supply chain of business activities, such as raw materials procurement and product use
Details of Astellas’ sustainability initiatives are posted on the Company’s website.

<Investment in human capital>
Astellas aims to be an “Employer of Choice,” striving to reach our desired people and organization through optimizing three key areas: attraction, retention and development. Investment in human capital is important for the future of Astellas, in addition to enhancing its current ability for execution. We continue to invest with both short-term and mid- to long-term perspectives.
In addition, we established “Organizational Health Goals” with the aim of achieving CSP2021. The purpose of these goals is to nurture a corporate culture that aims at reaching ambitious goals by promoting innovation, developing our talent, and fostering collaboration, which enhances Astellas’ ability for execution.
In our personnel departments, we are working to achieve the goals set by addressing the transformation of organizational culture and mindsets, the establishment of HR policy and systems that support global talent and organization, and strategic reforms to become an organization where innovation thrives, as priorities, as outlined below.
These three main priorities are supported through a reliable and data-driven approach to monitor progress. As a measure for monitoring progress in a reliable manner, we conduct a global engagement survey. This focuses on initiatives that enhance employee engagement and provides a visualization of the progress being made on each question. The strengths and points that require improvement identified by analyzing the survey results are used to create specific measures.

1. Transformation of organizational culture and mindset
Astellas focuses on ensuring psychological safety and promoting a culture of feedback to encourage employees to grow through intelligent risk-taking and learning. To create an organization that continues to generate innovation, we think it is important to have an environment where everyone can share bold ideas without fear of the outcome, ask questions about a situation, and give feedback to each other, as well as a mindset that allows feedback from others to contribute to personal growth.

1-1. Goals concerning the transformation of organizational culture and mindset
Astellas pursues ambitious outcomes through brave ideas. We aim to build an environment that empowers employees to take appropriate risks and support them to be ‘outcome-driven’ and ‘innovation-focused.’

1-2. Status of the transformation of organizational culture and mindset
To ensure psychological safety and promote a culture of feedback, we introduced a feedback tool globally in October 2022. Feedback can now be received in a timely manner not only from superiors to their subordinates but between all layers, with 4,324 pieces of feedback recorded as of January 31, 2023. In addition, the “Ask Me Anything” and “Live Stream” sessions are interactive sessions designed to promote two-way communication between Top Management and employees.

In Japan, we are also placing emphasis on health management which is strongly connected to ensuring psychological safety. The realization of work styles that allow each and every employee to demonstrate high productivity, creativity and self-fulfilling is predicated on employee health and the creation of a sound corporate culture. A sound corporate culture requires a psychologically safe environment in which employees respect each other and can actively communicate with peace of mind. Astellas is committed to pursuing organizational health through the support of diverse work styles and the promotion of employee health. Astellas’ health management promotion system in Japan is planned and operated mainly by the Human Resources (including health staff), Astellas Health Insurance Society and labor union, and headed by the Chief People Officer and Chief Ethics & Compliance Officer (CPO & CECO).

As a result of our efforts to promote good health management, Astellas has been recognized with certification as a 2023 Certified Health & Productivity Management Outstanding Organization (in the large enterprise category) by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry in Japan for two consecutive years. Please refer to the following website for results of our initiatives promoting health management.

2. Establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization
The ratio of revenue by region in FY2022 was about 20% Japan and about 80% overseas, with Astellas’ business growing globally. Consequently, the composition of employees is also becoming more global. We are engaged in building HR policy and system that support Astellas’ business on a global scale since building human resource strategies and measures that are accepted globally are vital with the change in business and human resources.

2-1. Goals for the establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization
Through building this HR policy and system, Astellas aims to create an environment in which each and every employee can be involved in innovative activities, pursue ambitious goals and collaborate with others under focused leadership. We aim to boost the performance of One Astellas by setting cross-divisional goals for each division that do not shut out individual divisions and by promoting ambitious goal setting and the rollout of the feedback system for each individual.

2-2. Status of the establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization
As one initiative for the establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization, we have integrated the talent management process worldwide. First, we revised our performance management and evaluation system. Furthermore, we reviewed the remuneration and recognition system. We changed the calculation factor for the bonus payment amount from what to date had been divisional performance to company-wide performance. Then, as the foundational element for the integration of all HR policies and processes on a global basis, the Company is supporting these pillars and implementing a cutting-edge HR system across its global operations.

3. Strategic reforms to become an organization where innovation thrives
We are working on the flattening of the organization for the strategic reforms to become an innovative organization. Our aim is to accelerate decision-making and empower the workplace by reducing the hierarchical levels below the president and CEO and increasing the number of subordinates managed by each manager.

3-1. Indicators and goals for flattening of the organization
We aim for the number of hierarchical levels from the president and CEO to be six (6) or less and for the span of control (SPOC) (Note) to be six (6) or more to encourage decision-making through the flattening of the organization.

(Note) Span of Control (SPOC): The number of subordinates per manager
3-2. Status of the flattening of the organization
